Friday Night Starts

In response to last year's survey in which a desire for short-format seminars was expressed, we are offering "Friday Night Starts" at NHYC during the month of May. Sailing experts Mike Pinckney and Bill Menninger will co-host informal starting and mark rounding practice. We will meet on the docks at 5:30 for a 20 minute "chalk talk" (with, or without chalk), after which we will head out for on-the water drills between 6:00 and 7:00. The format is likely to be two minute starts, one after the other, interspersed with short windward-leeward courses for some mark rounding practice. And, all the action will be video-taped. After sailing, we will congregate at NHYC where we can order some food and drinks to enjoy while watching the videos, with critiques from our experts.

There is no cost for this, except for your time spent in the presence of folks who enjoy helping others improve their one-design racing skills! This is going to be really fun!

Bring your boats, and we will see you starting Friday, May 7 at NHYC.
